

IEP Annual Review Meetings

The Individual Education Plan (IEP) process drives special education instruction for children with disabilities. An important ingredient in developing a good individual education plan requires parent input. Parents know the child better than anyone else, and often the parent has an excellent sense of the child's learning style.

Your child's special education teacher and support educators have knowledge of curriculum strategies and the experience of working with your son or daughter as well as with other students with similar disabilities. Parents and educators must plan together to meet the unique needs of each special education student.

Please be an active participant in your child's education. We look forward to seeing all parents of special education students at their child's annual review/IEP conference. If you have any questions or concerns related to the IEP process, please contact Holly Simms at 941-6400.
