SENIOR CLASS PROPHECY

Year 1970

"NORMAN WEISBRODT, you have just won the grand prize of a trip around the world with three friends, for spelling correctly the word, 'pharmacy'!" These were the words of GEORGE MULLINS, the announcer, as Norman stood before the television cameras of CHARLES BASDON and JOHN LOWEN. Norman knew he must find three friends immediately in order to qualify, so he hailed a taxi, driven by WAYNE BENNETT and went back to the laboratories.

Rather than wait for the elevator operated by MIKE LOHE, he ran down the stairs to the cafeteria and sat down with DIANE HANLON, the receptionist, JAMES INNIS, head chemist, and SANDRA CLARK, Jim's secretary. He then proceeded to tell them (us) the good news. Since we were former classmates, Norman invited us to take the trip around the world with him. Thus his qualifying problem was solved and the next day we all four arranged for leaves of absence.

We contacted the GARY CARTMELL Travel Agency at which BEVERLY ANDERSON, the secretary, arranged all accommodations. We boarded our plane at the Greater Cincinnati Airport and were greeted by JANITH ROGERS and JOY GADD, now competent stewardesses.

After we were seated and ready to leave, our two pilots, TIM SISSON and EDWARD SMITH, assured us of a pleasant flight.

Our first stop was London, where we ate at "BARRY and GARY CUNNINGHAM'S," fast becoming one of the world's best restaurants. After dinner we went to the Palladium where JANE SCHLEMMER was appearing. The next day we took a boat for Ireland and found JOYCE HENDERSON and NANCY SULLIVAN in Dublin growing shamrocks for "good-luck" charms. We (Diane and Sandy) decided to buy some real Irish linens and laces at BARBARA SMITH's Linen Store where CONNIE SEITER, LINDA MENDEL, and CAROL McGUIRE were employed.

The next morning we left for Madrid where the world renowned matador, EDWARD ZEISER,
